MEET ALICIA

As a wife, mother, author, and speaker, I am passionate about sharing honest stories filled with hope and wrapped in God's truth, love, and grace.

As a former educator and reading specialist, I have always held a special place in my heart for literacy, words, and story-telling. I have a B.A. degree in interdisciplinary studies and an M.A. in Advanced Literacy. I currently write for many faith-based blogs, including iBelieve, Crosswalk, and Christianity. I have written devotionals, a children's book on grief, and several Bible studies for women.

I have also had the honor of speaking to a wide range of audiences including podcasts, interviewing for a documentary, moms events, church ministries and missions, youth groups, radio shows, and more.

While I enjoy sharing personal stories that touch the hearts of my audience, I also try to encourage women of all ages to take the steps in their faith to trust God and live a life of abundance! Just keeping it real, honest, and somewhat messy, but always bringing it back to the truth found in His Word.

My website holds podcasts and small glimpses into some of my presentations. Tune in and have a listen!

Speaking Experience

With over ten years of faith-based speaking experience and over twenty years in training and education, I feel very comfortable sharing my heart and enjoy interacting with my audience. Whether it be formal or informal, a small gathering or large group of women, I always consider it an honor and blessing to share a message of hope.

SPEAKING TOPICS

Faith

Digging into God's Word: Understanding the Bible can be intimidating, so let's unpack simple strategies and ways to grow your faith and reclaim your real identity.

Women in the Word: Reading about women in the Bible not only gives us a glimpse into extraordinary lives but opens our minds to receive valuable lessons while softening our hearts with compassion, realizing we all share a similar story.

Family

Marriage: God's design for marriage has a divine purpose and offers us three beautiful gifts - partnership, parental authority, and passion. Let's tackle these tough topics and cover them with truth and grace.

Motherhood: The struggle is real, but so is our God and He gives us promises to cling to in each and every season as a mom.

Friendship & Fellowship

Sweet Friends: How do we find, keep, and foster friendship as women? Let's talk about it and see the three kinds of friends we need, and need to be!

Godly Relationships: Our relational God wants us to develop and deepen our relationship Him and with others. Need a better understanding of what God wants for you and your relationships? Let's dig into His Word and see what He has to say!

These are only samples of topics and can easily be adapted to any event and customized to meet your audience's needs. Check out more on www.aliciasearl.com
